The Fight To Save Cole Nowak's Sight

Ten-year-old Cole Nowak is afflicted with a rare degenerative eye disease named, x-linked Retinitis Pigmentosa (XLRP). This disease has already caused Cole to lose his night vision, and more than 35% of his entire vision. There is no known cure for XLRP, which will eventually cause Cole to become completely blind.

Despite being scared, Cole has bravely taken this challenge head-on. In fact, Cole requested that ColeRPalooza once again be held so that money can be raised to help him and other young children who are in jeopardy of losing their vision to this disease.

Now in its 4th year, ColeRPalooza has grown to become two events in one day. For those who like to golf, there is fun outing in the morning and afternoon, followed by a good old-fashioned barbecue spread and awesome live blues music.

A cure is in sight but funding is extremely limited, and these cures and treatments will only become a reality if monies are raised to complete the work that remains to be done. All funds from this event will be directed to the establishment of the "Cole Nowak/Hope For Vision XLRP Research Award." HFV is a non-profit organization, as defined in section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, dedicated to discovering treatments, cures and preventions for RP and other eye diseases.
